

Proclamation for World Cooperation and Advancement

(A summarized, theoretical and conceptual work)

Introduction:

Leaders, ambassadors and other representatives from every nation proudly gather today to witness formal commitments of all governments that will further solidify the human race on its path for humanitarian, philosophical and technological advancements. It is no mistake that among the three advancements noted, humanitarian is first. Accordingly, we acknowledge our priority to care for each global citizen as a critical prerequisite in order to receive the philosophical and technological advancement benefits in return. This proclamation establishes the future direction of the human race according to the global highest ideals adopted by all nations and with valuable contributions from entities and individuals from every nation. The most respected minds and institutions in the sciences of sociology, psychology, public policy, economics and philosophy offer their endorsements of this plan as a path to deliver real positive evolvement for individual citizens and the human race.

Global Highest Ideals:

Because nations pursued different goals based on sets of conflicting highest ideals for guidance, lesser-evolving ideals and aspirations by other nations or individuals existed. As a result, a global committee contemplated highest ideals with significant contributions from entities and individuals from every nation. The global highest ideals adopted by all nations established a mutual course to steer for the human race. Resulting from those agreed upon philosophies, the following proposals have been adopted:

Free Global Education:

With the latest announcement from a leading university regarding their most generous and visionary efforts, mankind now have an ever increasing and sustainable repository of training and learning resources – now referred to as the Global Education and Training Videos Project (GETVP). Lectures in every discipline up to and including the doctorate level are preserved. These lectures are available to everyone worldwide at no cost primarily via the internet. Anyone globally can download these videos and immediately learn topics in the fields of their choice. Anyone can acquire the knowledge enabling one to demonstrate competency via an exam for formal credit. Theoretically, one could proceed in this manner to obtain several doctorate degrees. This project demonstrates the new commitment and direction for human progress. Other universities worldwide are following this model, looking beyond their profit objectives to advance the human race. The GETVP project significantly increases the capacity for human advancement and earns the lead university a special place in our history and our deepest gratitude.

Money Eradication:

Upon extensive analysis of global, national, community and individual problems that continue throughout our existence, we have concluded that practically every problem or obstacle facing us is in some way rooted in thinking patterns and decision-making emanating from competitive environments created by the human race. We navigate through life as we compete among and within entities for resources and other needs. The most influential factor contributing to these thinking patterns is the pursuit of money or compensation. Therefore, the institution of money, currency and all related compensation endeavors will be formally retired from our civilization. After a certain date to be determined and announced, no form of money or compensation will be used for any transaction among the human race.

Free Global Health Care:

In harmony with retiring all money systems from our civilization and enabling every global citizen to achieve any skill and academic proficiency level at zero cost, those choosing to follow their true hearts into the medical profession shall assume the medical responsibilities of their communities on a volunteer basis. With the strong inflow of competent personnel over time, it may be possible to actually lower the number of hours for each volunteer.

Individual Pursuits:

In order to successfully eradicate money and implement free global health and medical care, it has been determined that essential needs of food, water and shelter will be at zero cost within every community. With every essential need provided or made available to every individual worldwide by community efforts and global cooperatives, everyone can gain competencies in the fields of their hearts desire and contribute knowledge, skills and time to advance self and human civilization. It has been determined that prosperity far beyond our current global existence will occur as individuals choose and pursue their personal areas of contribution without regard to financial compensation and competition considerations. We have finally removed foreseeable obstacles to prosperity for you, your children and for every future generation. Now it is up to you, global citizens, to advance humanity according to your special insights and proficiencies and to use all knowledge gained to participate within community and global collaborations to solve every global problem of our time.

Global Cooperation:

Consistent with the volunteer, zero cost initiatives, everyone now becomes a part of a global transformation where all communities will function in an approximately similar cooperative and volunteer-driven manner. All nations have agreed that our future prosperity and survival depend on our ability to cooperate among each other such that no nation loses and all nations win. If we prosper, then we prosper together. If we suffer, then we suffer together. Accordingly, each nation now has an interest in the success of every other nation. Significant cooperative agreements are now active such as agreeable global resource distribution models, global emergency responses, global weapons of mass destruction policies and planetary defense.

Conclusion:

Years of exploration, countless meetings and collaborations, healthy debate and intensive modeling of world scenarios were necessary to agree upon a final proposal worthy of endorsement by all nations. This historic proclamation expresses interrelated ideals and ideas reflecting one comprehensive and harmonious commitment – the advancement of the individual and the entire human race.

(A summarized, theoretical and conceptual work)

Proclamation for World Cooperation and Advancement.

---

<http://humanitytest.org/blog/proclamation-for-world-cooperation-and-advancement>